

I have called you together in advance of your regular session, for the purpose of taking some action for the defense of the State.

From the commencement of the present rebellion, Pennsylvania has done her whole duty to the Government. Living, as her southern neighbors, do in the immediate vicinity of the border, and thus exposed to sudden invasion, a wise policy would have led her to retain a sufficient part of her military force for our defense.

In so doing she would have fallen in her duty to the whole country. Not only would her men have been withdrawn from the field of general operations, but the loans and taxation which would have become necessary, would have, to a large extent, hindered the efforts of her people to support the Government.

She would also have necessarily interfered with and hampered all the military action of the Government, and made herself, to some extent, responsible for any failure and any delay which might have resulted therefrom.

The policy she has deliberately adopted, however, has been to devote her men to the service of the Government.

From the beginning she has always been among the first to respond to the calls of the United States, as is shown by her history from the Revolution to the present time.

This faithful fulfillment of her duty to the nation, has been a source of pride and honor to her people, and has been a source of strength to the Government.

It is now my duty to call upon you to take action for the defense of the State.

On the 5th day of the month a large Rebel army was in Maryland, and at various points on the Potomac, and as far west as New York, and as far east as the Atlantic Ocean.

It is now my duty to call upon you to take action for the defense of the State.

HARRISBURG, August 9.—The message of the Governor is now being read to the Legislature. It is a paper that may well be commended to the careful consideration of the people of the State, as containing matter of the highest possible importance.

We cannot speak too highly of the spirited manner in which the Governor presents the statements and facts which have been persistently heaped upon the people of Pennsylvania from certain quarters and the elevated tone he assumes in speaking of the State, and her sacrifices and fidelity. He gives us a truthful history of the recent raid, and of the barbarities inflicted upon the people of Chambersburg, and clearly demonstrates that the people of that town were not responsible for the raid, and that the responsibility rests upon the Government.

The Governor shows the necessity of more efficient protection to the border, and the continued efforts made by the State authorities to procure it.

The Governor then proposes a plan for the defense of the State which, if adopted by the Legislature, I think will be entirely within our pecuniary means, and will produce military organizations sufficient in number to give us at all times ample domestic protection against raids and invasions. We sincerely trust that the plan proposed may be speedily adopted, and that the bill may be passed at once to carry out the plan suggested.

There are other valuable suggestions in the paper, but I have only time to notice the closing sentence of the Message, in which the Governor declares that the object in calling the Legislature for the consideration of public measures, and that such only should engage the exclusive attention of the Legislature during the session.

I understand this to mean, what certainly the people expect, that no private legislation will engage the attention of the Legislature, and that this session will be made profitable in the adoption of such measures as the exigencies demand.

THE VICTORIES OF FARRAGUT AND AVERILL.

Special to The Evening Telegraph.

WASHINGTON, August 9.—The atmosphere of victory here to-day is almost of such an ecstatic character, that the people here are almost wild with joy. The success of Farragut at Mobile and of Averill in the valley have produced an improved tone of public feeling.

Later advices more than confirm the first reports of Averill's success. His loss was very slight, and he captured about six hundred prisoners, and all of the enemy's artillery. Among the prisoners is General Bradley Johnson, of Maryland. There is nothing of importance this morning from Grant's army, or from Atlanta.

Additional Details.

The number of guns captured at Averill in the fight at Moorehead, on Sunday last, was four; all of the Rebels had there. He captured four hundred and twenty prisoners before the pursuit commenced, and after that picked them up momentarily, to a number not yet definitely ascertained. When the Rebel General Bradley Johnson was captured he bore no insignia of his rank, and it was not known that he was in our hands until after he had escaped. This is the second time he has got off lately, when in our hands.

Navigation of the River Thames.

WASHINGTON, August 9.—The Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty recently communicated to Minister Adams, at London, a notice that no vessel whatever is allowed to come up the River Thames above Gravesend, with powder, shells, or other combustible stores on board, without special permission from the Admiralty. Applications are to be made by foreign vessels to the respective consuls, as to the arrangement for loading and safe custody of the powder, &c.

Reports of a Rebel Raid on Buffalo, New York, by Secretionists in Canada.

NEW YORK, August 9.—Rumors are rife of a Rebel raid on the city of Buffalo by secessionists and sympathizers from Canada.

The accident on the Baltimore and Annapolis Railroad.

BALTIMORE, August 9.—The latest report from Annapolis Junction states that none of the passengers were injured by the accident yesterday, beyond a few slight bruises and abrasions. All proceeded to their destination.

examined into the history of the Almohada building, and found that they had originally been built in a very substantial manner, but a few years ago, in erecting heaters, portions of the foundation walls and arches supporting the chimneys were removed, and it is greatly to be regretted that the accident had not happened at a time when the building was in a more substantial condition. They recommend that the damage done will be repaired, and in rebuilding the portion of the Almohada where the accident occurred, there will be placed in the order of priority, first, the chimney, and second, the portion of the Almohada upon the central pier of masonry work, as an additional support to the piers, and in lieu of the stone arches heretofore built from solid pier to the outside pier.
